

Norfolk General Hospital

85 years of caring for our community

Thanks to the generosity of the community it serves, Norfolk General Hospital (NGH) is a unique rural hospital. "It is large enough to have advanced technology yet small enough so most of us know each other by name," explains Dr. Tim Bard who is an Internist.

"It is the best of all worlds" says Anesthetist, Dr. Bill Thorogood, MD, CCFP. "General Practitioners can work in different areas such as anesthesia, emergency, palliative care, obstetrics and the like. Such varied practices are not common in larger centres." Dr. Thorogood enjoys working only minutes from his home and 30 minutes from his family cottage on Lake Erie's Long Point.

Patient care and safety is the motto at NGH. With 121 patient beds, 4,000 patients are admitted annually and over 60,000 out-patient visits per year, the Hospital focuses on evidence based practices and strongly supports research. Over the past five years, the Emergency Department, Palliative Care, Intensive Care Unit and Diagnostic Imaging have been redeveloped with state of the art technology.

"We are an award winning hospital," explains Bill Lewis, CEO & President. "And we're constantly assessing our practices to provide the best healthcare outcomes possible. We are very proud of our team of over 500 healthcare workers—their professionalism, dedication and care go beyond the call of duty."

NGH provides approximately 59 percent of the in-patient hospital care for area residents, with the balance of service provided by hospitals in Hamilton, London and Brantford.
