MEDIA RELEASE:

For Immediate Release

November 1, 2018

The CPE outbreak at NGH has ended.

The antibiotic resistant organism outbreak, specifically CPE, at Norfolk General Hospital has been declared over.

No new cases have been identified and visitor restrictions have been lifted on 4B.

NGH wishes to thank all visitors for their cooperation with keeping our staff and patients safe.

NGH recognizes the work of all staff who works on 4B for their implementation of Outbreak control measures.

The Hospital advises that if you are feeling ill, please avoid visiting. NGH encourages visitors to please wash their hands or use one of the many available hand sanitizing stations when entering or exiting our Hospital or Nursing Home.
